Docket:A review of energy-efficiency programs, in which the ACC staff has suggested cutting the state requirements for utilities to conserve of their projected electricity sales 22 percent by 2020.

DocketNo: E-00000XX-13-0214

Utility: APS

Position: Con

Comments:Please do not roll back the energy efficiency standards for Arizona utilities. This will hurt ratepayers, send Arizona back decades, and give corporate welfare to the same utilities you are supposed to regulate. Help keep us a model for efficiency and ensure utilities meet the existing requirements. No utility and no other party has supported this, and I urge you to reject this proposal. Under this reckless energy waste policy, you enrich monopolies at the expense of Arizona ratepayers. We elected you to be our watchdog and you should reject this energy waste proposal.

Comments: E-00000XX-13-0214, don't cut the requirements to conserve energy. It's the best payback of any plan. Nature of Complaint:

Docket No.: E-00000XX-13-0214

Comments:As an APS customer soon to have solar installed on my home, I'm concerned that future rate tariffs could place additional cost on the shoulders of those customers choosing to use solar to help reduce power costs. Many utilities and PUC's are beginning to identify and recognize the many positive attributes to distributed solar generation, and are quantifying these benefits in the rate making process. Resulting in minimal minimum charges for customers choosing solar. It's important to note that there are many other distributed generation and end-user practices that can more significantly impact APS's ability to meet minimum revenue requirements than solar. For example, customers consuming energy during peak hours, customers reducing their energy use through conservation - especially during off-peak hours, customers with extremely high demands for energy during peak-hours, among others. I find it interesting that solar generation, which contributes to generation needs during peak hours, is penalized to a certain extent through special solar tariffs; and anyone can implement aggressive conservation practices and measures resulting in significant off-peak energy reductions clearly impacting APS's minimum revenue requirements and there is no special tariffs for these circumstances. Rate tariffs should encourage customers to implement solar energy to assist APS during peak hours and discourage customers from conserving energy during off peak hours and using energy during peak hours. Time of use rates should not be an option; and customers should not be grandfathered into certain rate structures, everyone plays a part in cost-recover.
